

Avond van Sophia ★ Soirée de Sophia

How gendered is the European Union today?

Views from Germany and the USA

14.03.2012

7-9 PM ★ AMAZONE/BRUSSELS

Gabriele Abels and Joyce Mushaben recently co-edited “Gendering the European Union. New Approaches to Old Democratic Deficits” (Palgrave Press January 2012). This volume is a holistic assessment of six decades of European integration and policy-making as seen through a gender lens. But how gendered is the EU anno 2012? And what are the challenges for the future? On Wednesday the 14th of March, Abels and Mushaben will reflect upon these issues: feminist scholarship at its best!

GABRIELE ABELS is Professor of Comparative Political Science and European Integration, Department of Political Science, University of Tübingen, Germany ★ JOYCE MARIE MUSHABEN is Professor of Comparative and Gender Studies, Department of Political Science, University of Missouri-St. Louis, USA ★ Discussant PETRA DEBUSSCHER is a Post-doctoral Fellow of the Special Research Fund (BOF), Centre for EU Studies, Department of Political Sciences, Ghent University, Belgium.

ENTRANCE FEE: €4 ★ €2 members of Sophia

SPEAKING LANGUAGE: English (translation to French)

VENUE: Amazone. Middaglijnstraat 10 Rue du Méridien. 1210 Brussels (near Botanique)

INFO: sophia.be ★ +32 2 229 38 69

sophia. belgian network for gender studies

presents:

sophia.be